

Yesterday, my long-time client informed me that she learned from the police that a CAAR agent (Kristin Streed) had told them a man was impersonating my client's deceased husband. (Glen Parsons) and he wanted to sell a lot on Cleveland Ave. and wanted Kristin to list it. Kristin showed such due diligence and learned it was a scam. She reported it to CAAR.

It is not listed yet. I fear that perhaps another agent will not exercise the same necessary due diligence that Kristin did and will list it.

I sent this information to my fellow Nest agents, and an agent in my office said she also received the same text, email, and VM from the same person/persons. They have created an untraceable email address. The giveaway is @proton.me It came from an Homes.com lead

The contact info for this scammer is gleniparsons@proton.me and 1-205-386-3620.

Cheers
